

Jerry Dennis's powerful and insightful new book explores winter in Great Lakes country. Grounded by a knee injury, Dennis learns to live at a slower pace while staying in houses ranging from a log cabin on Lake Superior's Keweenaw Peninsula to a luxurious mansion on the northern shore of Lake Michigan. While walking on beaches and exploring nearby woods and villages, he muses on the nature of time, weather, waves, agates, books, words for snow and ice, our complex relationship with nature, and much more.

"As in the best American nature writing—a tradition that Dennis knows well—here the place and the explorer come together in brilliant conversation."

—Scott Russell Sanders, author of A Conservationist Manifesto
