

Contents

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS IX

FORETASTE XI

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS XXV

PART 1. Making Sense in Anthropology

CHAPTER 1. Taking Leave of Our Senses

A Survey of the Senses and Critique of the Textual Revolution in Ethnographic Theory 3

CHAPTER 2. Coming to Our Senses

The Sensual Turn in Anthropological Understanding 29

PART 2. Melanesian Sensory Formations

CHAPTER 3. On the Pleasures of Fasting, Appearing, and Being Heard in the Massim World 61

CHAPTER 4. On Being in Good Taste

Gustatory Cannibalism and Exchange Psychology 95

CHAPTER 5. The Visible and the Invisible in a Middle Sepik Society 124

CHAPTER 6. Comparison of Massim and Middle Sepik Ways of Sensing the World 160

PART 3. Libidinal and Political Economies of the Senses

CHAPTER 7. Oedipus In/Out of the Trobriands

A Sensuous Critique of Freudian Theory 175

CHAPTER 8. The Material Body of the Commodity

Sensing Marx 204

NOTES 235

REFERENCES 249

INDEX 273