Jazz Journeys to Japan: The Heart Within is dedicated to watashi no sensei to tomodachi (my mentor and friend) Akira Tana and watashi no subarashii yome (my wonderful daughter-in-law)

Yoko Takitani Minor.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This project took six years to complete, to fulfill, and the book itself would never have come to pass without the assistance of many people. First, I would like to thank all of the fine jazz musicians, fans, producers, promoters, and writers I interviewed whose names will become familiar to you (if they are not already so) in the pages that follow. I also want to thank those “lesser-sung” or unsung (for lack of space) heroes in both the United States and Japan who generously granted to me their time, solid assistance, and often friendship. They are: Rob Hayes, Chika Okamoto, Sumiko Inoue, Chris Wenner, Megumi Asaoka, Yoshihiro Nakagawa, Shu Naruse, Tomoyuki Shoji, Paul Contos, Jan Deneau; Akira Nonomura, Kohei Morishita, and Hisataka “Mac” Machida (of the Global Jazz Orchestra); Justin Fink, Vic Kobayashi, Bunky Green, Jim Shon, Scotty Wright, Hiroshi “Bamboo” Takeuchi, Takeshi “Sticks” Inomata, Robert Schneider, Herb Wong, Milt Fletcher, Eddie Mendenhall, Keiko Matsui, Hiroko Kokubu, Jim Costello, Tim Jackson, David Murray, Sadahiko Oda, Alex Hulanicki, Suzue Tomi, Hiroaki Yoshida, Yoshiko Uchida, Gregory Levine, Milo McFarland, Sami Kaneda, Andrew Simons, Akihero Minami (the surgeon who restored our son’s facial features after his accident!), and the lady with the great noodle shop in Nikko.

I have acknowledged, in the bibliography, profile pieces of value, but I would like here to acknowledge writers who contributed reviews or bios that helped me complete my knowledge of jazz artists in and from Japan: Chuck Berg, Jeff Kaliss, Deni Kasrel, Ken Micallef, and Doug Ramsey (JazzTimes); Stuart Broomer, Chris Kelsey, Shirley Klett, and Scott Yanow (Cadence); John Corbett and Howard Mandel (Down Beat); Lynnea T. Stephen (Ms.); Don Heckman (Los Angeles Times); Esme M. Infanta (Honolulu Advertiser); Seth Markow (Honolulu Weekly); Phil Elwood and Annie Nakao (San Francisco Examiner); Wayne Saroyan (Oakland Tribune); Evantheia Schibsted (San Francisco); and—nearly most invaluable of all—Shigeyo Hyodo. Check the Internet Magazine Jazz Page—http://www.impr.com/index_e.html—for information on everything that’s happenin’ in Japan, and everybody!

I am grateful to the editors who published or posted on-line my own profile pieces on Japanese and Japanese American artists, pieces that were converted into chapters of this book: Bill Smith at Coda, Howard Mandel at <http://www.jazzhouse.org>, Wayne Saroyan at <http://www.jazzwest.com>, and Paul Baker at <http://www.jazzinstituteofchicago.org>.

I want to thank the following photographers, whose work is also credited within the gallery section of the book, for granting permission to use their work: Gildas Boclé, Stuart Brinin, Vera Hørven, Yozo Iwanami, Steve Minor, Ryo Natsuki, and Ebet Roberts. Every possible effort has been made to locate the holders of copyright material, and I also want to thank David Murray (photos courtesy of the Monterey Jazz Festival Archives) and Masahiko Satoh for photographs they provided.

I want to thank Chris Hebert, my editor at the University of Michigan Press, who proved to be the best, most insightful, sensible, and understanding editor any writer could ask for on a project of this scope and size; Lewis Porter; and the exceptional copyediting and production team of Marcia LaBrenz, Carol Sickman-Garner, and John Grucelski.

And last, but by no means least, I would like to thank my “support” group (friends and relatives): Stu Brinin; Rick Carroll; Bink and Trixie Ichinose; Yuri Kochiyama; Kitty Margolis (and Monty); Bruce Forman; Dottie Dodgion; Bryan McConnell; Andy Weis; Elliot Roberts; Jim Hinton; George Lober; Ron Peet; Richard Mayer; Nancy Raven; Karl Dobbratz; Susana Wessling; Maribeth Anderson Payne; Shigehumi and Sumako Takitani; Kazuko and Katsuyuki Kawagishi (and family); Minako and Noriyoshi Nakamura (and family); Katsunori, Kyoko, and Emi Matsumoto; Hisayo Oshima; and as always, with gratitude and love, my mom, Dorothy, my sister Emily (who reads everything I write), my wife, Betty, and Tim, Emily, Blake, Steve, and Yoko. Dōmo arigatō.
