

Index

- advocacy: reasons for, 77, 102–103;
representation issues, 112–114; using privilege in, 97–98
- affluence, classroom effect, 7–8
- age: author's reflections, 145–147;
identity conflicts, 109–110; privilege
and, 155–156; of teachers, 149–
151, 156; of writers, 120, 124–
125
- Austen, Jane, 45–46
- autobiography, 24
- autoethnography, 12
- bisexuals. See sexual identity
- Blanton, L.L., 63, 152
- Britzman, D.P., 99
- Casanave, C. P., 11–12
- Chatterjee, P., 46, 47
- colonialism: attitude awareness, 34–35;
and ESL teaching, 22–24, 32–35, 44–45, 48–49; slavery, 45–46; tea
growing, 44, 46
- cultural conflicts, 110
- culture conflicts, 33–35
- De, E.N., 33–34
- Dews, C.L.B., 109
- discrimination: based on sexual identity, 101–102, 104–111; in higher education, 9, 150–151, 155
- ESL: cultural conflicts, 110; culture conflicts, 33–35; discrimination
and, 101–102, 104–111; enrollment, 58–59, 60; gender issues, 83–84,
87–91; identity conflicts, 2–3,
109; privileged students, 5, 7–8,
47–48; remediation work, 8;
social class issues, 83–84; status of,
64–65, 118, 154–155; at USE,
53–62; women, 87, 88–91; writing programs, 62–63, 65. See also
TESOL
- ESL faculty: colonial attitudes, 22–24, 32–35; mentoring, 77, 79–80;
personal narrative and, 13–14;
publishing by, 118, 124–125; status,
54–56, 60–62, 64; support groups, 129–130, 131; teaching about sexual identity, 104–107; understanding own background, 23–24; unions, 56–57; at USE, 53–56, 116–117. See
also teachers and teaching;
TESOL
- essentialization, 112

- faculty unions, 56–57
feminism, 12, 82–83, 121–122
Field, N., 109
- gays. See sexual identity
gender: discrimination, 155; identity conflicts, 107–109, 111; of mentors, 68–69, 78; and social class, 84–87, 91–92; support groups, 139–142; and tea, 42, 46
global change impacts, 153–154
Gregory, D.U., 33–34
groups: benefits, 129, 130, 137–138; collaboration, 137–138; community building, 129; faculty, 129–130; gender factors, 139–142; online, 136–137; privilege aspects, 142–144; success factors, 131–132, 138–139; types of, 134–138; and women, 129–130, 139–142. See also writing groups
- Hempel, P., 10
heteronormativity, 97
higher education: administration of, 57–58; culture issues, 58–59; ESL status in, 62–65; gender issues, 83–84; internationalism, 58–59; mentors, 74–77, 79–80; privilege roles in, 4–9, 78–79; social class issues, 83–84; social justice, 59; unions, 56–57. See also University of San Francisco (USF)
homosexuality. See sexual identity hooks, bell, 2, 7
- identity conflicts: age, 109–110; cultural differences, 110; gender, 107–109, 111; privilege groups and, 107–109; religion-based, 110–111; sexual identity, 107–111; social class, 109–110; for students, 2–3, 109
Imamura, S., 74–75, 77
internationalism and higher education, 58–59
- James, Henry, 43
- Kapra, R., 106–107
Kroll, B., 152
- Law, C.L., 109
Lehmann, M., 75–76, 77
lesbians. See sexual identity
Lessing, D., 10
LGBT (lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender). See sexual identity
- mentors: academic, 74–77, 79–80; colleagues, 67–68; fathers, 67, 69, 70–71; gender of, 68–69, 78; as privilege, 79; social class differences, 77–78
missionary life and privilege, 26–30
Motha, S., 131–132
multiculturalism and higher education, 58–59
- Nel, S., 76, 77
Nelson, C., 99, 104–105
- online groups, 136–137
- parents, relationships with, 69–70, 79
personal narrative: as academic writing, 10–17, 53; author's experiences, 21–22, 51–52, 115; definition, 14–15; for feminist scholars, 12; negative views of, 16; privacy issues, 15–16; process of, 15; representation of others in, 15–16; research on, 11–12; and TESOL writing, 13–14
planning groups, 134–135
privilege: and advocacy, 97–98; assistance of, 79; in education, iii–iv, 4–9, 78–79; failure to acknowledge, 2–3; groups, 142–144; identity conflicts, 107–109; and international change, 47–50; lack of, 78–79; men-

- tors as, 79; as missionaries, 26–30; and sexual identity, 96–97; slavery, 45–46; and social class, 43, 47, 84–87, 155–156; tea as example, 43–44, 47, 50; technology, 153; writing, 123–124
- Proweller, A., 2–3
- queer theory and pedagogy, 99, 103–104
- racial privilege, 43–44
- religion, identity conflicts, 110–111
- remediation, 8
- representation, advocacy and, 112–114
- retirement, 147
- retreats, writing, 135–136
- second language writing, 62–63
- sexual identity: advocacy for, 102–103; author's writings on, 105–107; awareness of, 95–96, 99–102; identity conflicts, 107–111; representation issues, 112–114; social justice and, 100–101; teaching about, 103–104, 107; terminology, 98–99
- sexual orientation, 98–99
- slavery, 45–46
- social class: classroom effects, 4–5; discrimination based on, 5; as dividing issue, 92; failure to acknowledge, 2–3; gender and, 84–87, 91–92; in higher education, 6–9; identity conflicts, 109–110; mentoring, 77–78; and privilege, 43, 47, 84–87, 155–156; research on, 4–6
- socialization efforts in classroom, 33–34
- Spack, R., 23–24
- speaking-out concerns, 113–114
- Sullivan, P.A., 8–9
- tea and teacups: author's experiences, 36–42; as colonial legacy, 44, 46; as community activity, 50; gender and, 42; as symbol of privilege, 43–44, 47, 50
- teachers and teaching: about gender/class issues, 93–94; about homosexuality, 102–104; age factors, 149–151; author's reflections on, 20, 147–150, 151; use of autobiography, 24. See also ESL faculty; TESOL
- technology, teaching with, 152–153
- TESOL: changes in, 151–154; colonial attitudes, 22–24, 32–35; gender issues, 92–93; groups, 129–130, 131; mentoring, 77; and personal narrative, 13–14; professionalization of, 154; sexual identity issues, 97; social class issues, 32–33; status of, 78–79, 118, 154–155; success factors, 56–62; technology changes, 152–153. See also ESL faculty; teachers and teaching
- Tierney, W.G., 108–109
- transgenders. See sexual identity
- unions, faculty, 56–57
- University of San Francisco (USF), 53–62, 116–117
- Vandrick, John, 67, 69, 70–71
- Vandrick, Stephanie: colonial experience and teaching, 25–26, 30–32, 44–45, 48–49; on gender issues, 82–84; on identity, 23; mentors, 67–68, 74–76; as missionary kid, 24–30; parents, 26, 67, 69, 70–73; on personal narrative, 14, 21–22, 51–52, 115; privileges effects, 78–79; on sexual identity, 99–107; on teaching, 20, 30–31, 147–150, 151; on writing, 72–73, 116–129
- Vandrick, Stephanie, writings of: feminist pedagogy, 121–122; gender, 83; personal narrative, 11–12, 14; sexual identity, 105–107; social class, 5, 7–8, 9; teaching, 156; writing, 137; writing groups, 128

- whole person concept, iii, 20, 97
- Willard-Traub, M.K., 12
- women: discrimination, 155; ESL
  - students, 87, 88–91; family issues, 81, 86–91; and groups, 129–130, 139–142; in the workplace, 84–87;
  - writers, 120, 124–125
- writing: academic writing, 10–17, 24, 53; autobiography, 24; obstacles, 124–125; as privilege, 123–124; success factors, 131–132. See also personal narrative
- writing groups: academic, 130–134; examples, 126–128; feedback from, 132; offering practical assistance, 133–134; retreats, 135–136; support of, 132, 133. See also groups
- writing programs, university, 62–63, 65