

Contents

General Introduction to the Volumes	ix
Introduction to the Introductions Volume	xiii
Some Preliminary Considerations	1
When to Write the Introduction	1
The Overall Shape of an Introduction	3
Language Focus: Old to New Flow of Ideas	6
Points of Departure: Starting the Introduction	12
Introductions to Course Papers	17
Introductions to Book Reviews	27
Language Focus: As	29
Introductions to Critiques and Reviews of Journal Articles and Book Chapters	33
Introductions to Journal Articles	39
Why Cite the Literature?	50
The CaRS Model	56
Citation Practices	59
Language Focus: Highlighting Agreement and Disagreement	67
Language Focus: Expressing Agreement	68
Language Focus: Expressing Disagreement	69
Language Focus: Expressing Agreement and Disagreement	71
Establishing Your Stance	73
Highlighting the Need for Research: The Gap	79
Filling the Gap	84
Language Focus: Guiding Your Readers	86
Problem-Focused Introductions	88
Specific-General Introductions in the Humanities	96
Short Research Reports	99
Introductions to Proposals	101
Introductions to Dissertations	111
References	117