Copyright (c) 2018. University of Michigan Press. All rights reserved.

Contents

Introduction: The Forward Arc of Projection xv
The Socio-Academic Space Model xviii

1 The Forces That Combine to Create the Experience 1
The Internationalization of Higher Education 1
International Student Experiences in U.S. Higher Education 4
Entering Curricular Contexts 8
Making Sense of First-Year Writing 10
New Ways to Conceptualize the Experience: This Study 14
Value of Sociocultural Perspectives and Hermeneutic Phenomenological Inquiry 18

2 Meet the Participants 21
Participant Vignettes 21
Han Gil 21
Crystal 23
Ai 24
John 25
Amy 27

Copyright (c) 2018. University of Michigan Press. All rights reserved.

Lora 28
Michelle 29
Kristen 30
Yoono 31
Luca 32

3 Global Mobility and Higher Education 35
The Phenomenon of Transnational Mobility for Higher Education 35
Participant Contexts for Transnational Mobility 38
A Diverse Participant Profile 38
Family Influence 41
Opportunity versus Pressure 46
Perception of Leaving a Constrained System 49

4 Classrooms as Socio-Academic Spaces 53
Underlying Qualitative Traditions 53
Epistemology and Worldview 54
Origins of Phenomenology 56
Hermeneutic Phenomenology 57
Van Manen's Approach to Researching Lived Experience 60
Subjectivity: The Researcher in the Research 61
Sociocultural Theoretical Influences 61
The Socio-Academic Space Model 64
Research Design in Line with the Socio-Academic Space Model 65

Copyright (c) 2018. University of Michigan Press. All rights reserved.

5 Entering the First-Year Writing Course: Hopeful but Unsure 70
Writing as an Unfamiliar "Required" Subject 70
Course Selection: The Theme Matters 74
Self-Perception within a Socio-Academic Space 81

6 Negotiating the FYW Experience: Interactions 89
Level of Interaction with the Course Theme 89
Being "On the Ball" 97
Highs and Lows 100

7 Reflections on the Lived Experience: You Get What You Put In 106
The Influence of the Socio-Academic Environment 106
Course Theme versus Writing 111
A Sense of Accomplishment 115

8 Reflecting from a Distance 119
Ai 119
Transformative Experiences 120
Evolving Self-View 121
Socio-Academic Reflections 122
Reflections on the Decision to Migrate Transnationally for Higher Education 123
The Path Forward 124

Copyright (c) 2018. University of Michigan Press. All rights reserved.

John 125
Transformative Experiences 125
Evolving Self-View 126
Socio-Academic Reflections 127
Reflections on the Decision to Migrate Transnationally for Higher Education 129
The Path Forward 130
Lora 131
Transformative Experiences 131
Evolving Self-View 132
Socio-Academic Reflections 134
Reflections on the Decision to Migrate Transnationally for Higher Education 135
The Path Forward 136
Reflections on Reflections 137

9 Key Themes and Broad Conclusions 139
A Return to the Literature: Internationalization of Higher Education 139
Motivation to Pursue Higher Education Abroad 139
Institutional-Level Internationalization 145
The Arc of the Lived Experience 148
Links to Literature Base on FYW and L2 Writing 148
The Lived Experience through Time 151
Socio-Academic Space, Interactions, and Self-Perception 155
Relational Nature of the Experience 156
The Interplay between Course Theme and Writing 159
Writing as a Skill 162

Copyright (c) 2018. University of Michigan Press. All rights reserved.

10 Curricular and Pedagogical Considerations 165
Global Engagement within the Curriculum 165
Placement and the Multilingual Landscape 167
Pedagogical Practices 169
The Value of a Hermeneutic Phenomenological Approach 173
Subjectivity, Assumptions, and Limitations 174
Recommendations 177
Conclusion 182

References 185

Index 199