

Contents

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Introduction: The Hashtags We've BeenForced to RememberABIGAIL DE KOSNIK AND KEITH P. FELDMAN               | 1   |
| 1. Is Twitter a Stage?: Theories of Social MediaPlatforms as Performance SpacesABIGAIL DE KOSNIK            | 20  |
| Part I: Black Twitter Futures   |     |
| 2. #OnFleek: Authorship, Interpellation, and theBlack Femme Prowess of Black TwitterMALIKA IMHOTEP          | 39  |
| 3. "You Ok Sis?": Black Vernacular, Community Formation,and the Innate Tensions of the HashtagPAIGE JOHNSON | 57  |
| 4. #SandraBland's Mystery: A Transmedia Storyof Police BrutalityAAMINAH NORRIS AND NALYA RODRIGUEZ          | 68  |
| 5. Creating and Imagining Black Futures through AfrofuturismGRACE GIPSON  | 84  |
| 6. Ferguson Blues: A Conversation with Rev. Osagyefo Sekou  | 104 |
| Part II: Mediated Intersections   |     |
| 7. Confused Cats and Postfeminist PerformanceLYNDSEY OGLE   | 123 |

|                                |  |     |
|--------------------------------|--|-----|
| 8.                             | #WhyIStayed: Virtual Survivor-Centered Spaces for Transformation and Abolishing Partner ViolenceJULIA HAVARD                     | 137 |
| 9.                             | #gentrification, Cultural Erasure, and the (Im)possibilities of Digital Queer GesturesJOSÉ RAMÓN LIZÁRRAGA AND ARTURO CORTÉZ     | 152 |
| 10.                            | Hashtag Television: On-Screen Branding, Second-Screen Viewing, and Emerging Modes of Television Audience InteractionRENÉE PASTEL | 165 |
| Part III: Disavowals           |  |     |
| 11.                            | Hashtag Rhetoric: #AllLivesMatter and the Production of Post-Racial AffectKYLE BOOTEN  | 183 |
| 12.                            | #CancelColbert: Popular Outrage, Divo Citizenship, and Digital Political PerformativityABIGAIL DE KOSNIK                         | 203 |
| 13.                            | #nohomo: Homophobic Twitter Hashtags, Straight Masculinity, and Networks of Queer DisavowalBONNIE RUBERG                         | 218 |
| Part IV: Twitter International |  |     |
| 14.                            | “Is Twitter for Celebrities Only?”: A Qualitative Study of Twitter Use in IndiaNEHA KUMAR  | 237 |
| 15.                            | Reterritorializing Twitter: African Moments, 2010–2015REGINOLD A. ROYSTON AND KRYSTAL STRONG                                     | 249 |
| 16.                            | #IfAfricaWasABar: Participation on Twitter across African BordersNAVEENA KARUSALA, TREVOR PERRIER, AND NEHA KUMAR                | 268 |
| 17.                            | Beyond Hashtags: Black Twitter and Building Solidarity across BordersKIMBERLY MCNAIR   | 283 |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Part V: Notes from the Color of New Media                                  |     |
| 18. The Color of New Media Enters Trumplandia                              | 301 |
| 19. The Color of New Media Responds to UC Berkeley’s“Free Speech Week” | 317 |
| Contributors   | 343 |
| Index  | 347 |