

Democratic Designs

DEMOCRATIC DESIGNS

International Intervention and Electoral Practices in Postwar Bosnia-Herzegovina

Kimberley Coles

The University of Michigan Press Ann Arbor

Copyright © by the University of Michigan 2007
All rights reserved
Published in the United States of America by
The University of Michigan Press
Manufactured in the United States of America
⊗ Printed on acid-free paper

2010 2009 2008 2007 4 3 2 1

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, or otherwise,
without the written permission of the publisher.

A CIP catalog record for this book is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Coles, Kimberley.

Democratic designs : international intervention and electoral practices in postwar Bosnia-Herzegovina / Kimberley Coles.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN-13: 978-0-472-09985-6 (cloth : alk. paper)

ISBN-10: 0-472-09985-X (cloth : alk. paper)

ISBN-13: 978-0-472-06985-9 (pbk. : alk. paper)

ISBN-10: 0-472-06985-3 (pbk. : alk. paper)

1. Elections—Bosnia and Herzegovina. 2. Democracy—Bosnia and Herzegovina. 3. Bosnia and Herzegovina—Politics and government—1992– 4. Intervention (International law)—Political aspects—Case studies. I. Title.

JN2203.A95C65 2007

324.94974'03—dc22

2007008825

To Popocatépetl and Waverley

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations ix
List of Tables xi
List of Abbreviations xiii
Acknowledgments xv

Prologue 1
Introduction 9
Blueprints and Builders 33

INTERNATIONALITY

Arrival Stories 59
Hyper-Bosnia: International Privilege, State-Building, and Differentiation 63
Doing Nothing: The Practices of Passivity 85

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNANCE

Electoral Thick Description 115
Election Day 120
Electoral Actants: Translating Voter Will into Political Authority 154
Embodied Transparency: The Eyes and Ears of the International Community 191
Transparent Forms and Bureaucratic Mechanisms of Watching 209

Circuits of Power: Jet-Setters, Foreign Policy, and Democratic Works 234

Notes 247 References 259 Index 275

ILLUSTRATIONS

- Fig. 1. How to vote under the newly adopted Australian system, California, 1892 4
- Fig. 2. “The Voting Process in the Polling Station,” Bosnia-Herzegovina, 2000 6
- Fig. 3. Beer mat electoral message, “Elections are the way to your future,” 1997 22
- Fig. 4. Postcards of Sarajevo, ca. 1998 49
- Fig. 5. International map overlays, ca. 1998 64
- Fig. 6. Election poster, “We Don’t Want War, We Again Want to Be in Europe,” 1998 74
- Fig. 7. Election Law Campaign billboard, “The Way into Europe Depends on You,” 1999 79
- Fig. 8. Voter registration form, 1997 116
- Fig. 9. Daily accounting form, 1997 134
- Fig. 10. Ideal polling station layout, 2000 136
- Fig. 11. Voter register sample, 2000 141
- Fig. 12. Vote casting, Kosovo, 2001 142
- Fig. 13. Text on tendered ballot envelopes, 2000 143
- Fig. 14. Daily accounting form worksheet, 1997 148
- Fig. 15. Ballot sample for the open-list selection method, 2000 168
- Fig. 16. Ballot sample for the preferential vote-selection method, 2000 171
- Fig. 17. Tally sheet, 2000 176

- Fig. 18. Summary of results form 2, 2000 177
- Fig. 19. What counts as valid, ca. 2000? 179
- Fig. 20. Valid and invalid markings guideline sheets, 1997 and 2000 181
- Fig. 21. The political structure of Bosnia-Herzegovina, 2000 184
- Fig. 22. ODIHR's "Eyes" of Democracy logo 195
- Fig. 23. Electoral slogan, "Don't Close Your Eyes," Center for Civic Initiatives, 2000 196
- Fig. 24. Accounting form, 2000 211
- Fig. 25. Summary of results form 1, 2000 213
- Fig. 26. Variance in polling station visitations, C-2 forms, 2000 219
- Fig. 27. Filling out the C-2 form with attitude, 2000 220
- Fig. 28. Filling out the C-2 form with ambiguity, 2000 221
- Fig. 29. Unclarity of the C-2 form, 2000 223
- Fig. 30. A thorough completion of the C-2 form, 2000 225
- Fig. 31. Zones of gray fill the C-2 form, 2000 226

TABLES

- Table 1. Acceptable Identification Documents, 1997–2000 139
- Table 2. Voting Patterns, 1997 161
- Table 3. Summary of Counting Steps, 2000 174
- Table 4. Preferential Vote Transfers during the 2000 Republika Srpska and Vice Presidential Election 186
- Table 5. Hypothetical Seat Allocations Using Different Formulas 188

ABBREVIATIONS

ICTY	International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia
IFOR	Implementation Force, the NATO-led military forces (Dec. 1995–Dec. 1996)
IGO	Intergovernmental Organization
INGO	International Nongovernmental Organization
KM	Bosnian Convertible Mark
MEC	Municipal Election Commission
NATO	North Atlantic Treaty Organization
NGO	Nongovernmental Organization
ODIHR	Office of Democratic Institutions and Human Rights
OHR	Office of the High Representative
OSCE	Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe
SFOR	Stabilisation Force, the NATO-led military forces (Dec. 1996–Dec. 2004)
UN	United Nations
UNPROFOR	United Nations Protection Force

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I owe a great debt to the many colleagues, friends, and strangers who, in their actions and comments, gave rise to this text. Their good humor, permission, and willingness to be scrutinized were as crucial to this analysis as my synthesis and interpretation. Even when they did not comprehend what I was doing or understand my data-collection strategies, I was welcomed. I hope I have remained true to my claim that I was not writing an exposé or an evaluation of democratization efforts in Bosnia-Herzegovina. I apologize to those who asked me to put the juicy stuff in the footnotes. While this text represents a critical stance, it is less a commentary on the successes or failures of international aid or of democracy promotion and more a dissection of the overarching logics of democracy and humanitarianism and of the practices that arise out of those logics.

The research was financially supported through a dissertation fellowship from the Institute for Global Cooperation and Conflict; summer grants from the University of California, Irvine School of Social Science and Department of Anthropology; a University of California Regents Writing Fellowship; a travel grant from the National Council for Eurasian and East European Research; travel monies from the University of Redlands; and multiple secondments and volunteer missions through the U.S. State Department and the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, (OSCE's) Mission to Bosnia-Herzegovina. The School of Social and Political Studies at the University of Edinburgh graciously bought me some time as I was completing production of the manuscript.

The OSCE Mission to Bosnia-Herzegovina gave me wonderful care, employment, and affiliation, providing me with a home for many months between May 1997 and December 2000. Within my home, I found a ready family of colleagues and friends. The personal, the professional, and the ethnographic blurred as we played at work and worked while playing. I dearly thank them all for their companionship: Ben, Susan and David, Peter, Liz, Badger, Stef the Fireman, Michael, Hasim, Igor, Adnan, Jana, Jesper, Henrik, Thomas, Lex, Simon, Kate, Tanya, Martin, Andrew, Craig, Manfred, Iain, Tony, Tony, Matt, Michael, Helen, Claudia, Judith, Idoia, Alberto, Orflaith, Matt, Esko, Ernst, Marc, Caroline and Jason, and Tasha and Sean.

Above all, John Ging supported social science research and my project. His backing opened many doors in the head office, in regional centers, in field and election offices, and in the departments. Susan Carnduff and Jasna Malkoč allowed me access to the Departments of Elections and Democratisation during my fieldwork in 2000. The drivers and guards of the Bank Building played a fierce game of indoor football and laughingly allowed the California chick to play as well. I will be forever grateful to the doctors and nurses stationed during the summer of 1997 at Swiss Camp, the German Field Hospital at Rajlovac, and Landstuhl Regional Medical Center at Ramstein Air Base in Germany. My life would truly not be the same without their skill and care. Venad Osmanović and Anne Grandvoinet Serafini were all I could have asked for in colleagues. The Hotel Intercontinental in Zagreb provided outstanding cordiality and service; I remain in awe of anyone's ability to host a thousand people at once.

In addition to all the people in Bosnia-Herzegovina, many colleagues contributed important commentary, advice, and critiques: Mukulika Banerjee, Victoria Bernal, Tom Boellstorff, Keith Brown, Susan Coutin, Megan Crowley, Tom Douglas, Drew Gilbert, Susan Greenhalgh, Elissa Helms, Jennifer Heung, Rhonda Higdon, Karen Leonard, Robert McLaughlin, Liisa Malkki, Tobias Kelly, Marty Otañez, Julia Paley, Kyriaki Papageorgiou, Annelise Riles, Christina Schwenkel, and Alex Smith. Bill Maurer, Jim Ferguson, and Teresa Caldeira crucially supported and guided this project; their scholarship continues to inspire me. "Doing Nothing: The Practices of Passivity" was improved through the comments of the anonymous reviewers at the Society for the Anthropology of Europe, the Association of Political and Legal Anthropology, and PoLAR: Political and Legal Anthropology Review. "Election Day" benefited from the comments of Ann Anagnost and anonymous reviewers for Cultural Anthropology. At a late stage in the final revisions, a small conference, Politics and Society Ten Years after Dayton, held in Sarajevo through the Human Rights Centre at the University of Sarajevo, was inspirational and was crucial to my refinement of some of the text's arguments; the participants deserve my special gratitude. The final work was substantially improved through the insights and provocative questioning of Caroline Brown, Bianet Castellanos, Ellen Moodie, and Hinda Seif. During the manuscript's final editing, I enjoyed conversations with Janet Carsten, Stefan Ecks, Ian Harper, Laura Jeffery, Jonathan Spencer, and Richard Whitecross; Teo provided—indeed, demanded—a change of pace. Steve Wuhs's close reading of all versions of this work has made me a better scholar. I thank him for his constant encouragement. My family has always been there, wherever I am—who could ask for more?

Substantial portions of "Election Day" appeared as "Election Day: The Construction of Democracy through Technique" Cultural Anthropology 19 (4) (2004): 551–80. A slightly different version of "Doing Nothing: The Practices of Passivity" appears in "Ambivalent Builders: Europeanization, the Production of Difference, and Internationals in Bosnia-Herzegovina." PoLAR: Political and Legal Anthropology Review 25 (1) (2002): 1–18, and as a chapter in The New Bosnian Mosaic: Identities, Memories, and Moral Claims in Post-War Society, edited by Xavier Bougarel, Elissa Helms, and Ger Duijzings (Burlington, VT: Ashgate, 2006).